

Geekshop

14 JANUARY 2010

AMKETTE FLASH TV

The budget device at around Rs 3,000 doesn't give you networking capabilities like the others and is restricted to 720p like the box from Netgear. It also has only one USB port and no HDMI output. However, its trump card is the SD/MMC port which not only allows you to play video, photos and even text files off a memory card but also allows you to transfer files between the card and your USB disk. Its compact, light and white in colour making it the best value for money product in the category.

PRICE:
Rs 3,000