

February 2010

UNWIRED FUN

This sleek wireless keyboard is the latest accessory from Amkette's stable. It is almost 20 per cent smaller than the regular keyboards. And this despite the fact that it also incorporates the trackball and a scroll wheel on the right. If you think that the keys will be cramped and might be difficult to tackle you are wrong. The layout of the keys is such that you can smoothly work on it without a hitch. Gamers will have their share of fun when they play their games using the trackball and mouse buttons placed in both directions—left and right.

To ensure its small form, only thing that has been sacrificed is the separate number pad, generally present on the right. Save that it has all keys that you might need. Besides the multimedia shortcut keys, you also get hot keys for direct access to your mails, browser, search and My Computer. We didn't like its glossy exterior much but performance-wise this is a good wireless keyboard. And the inclusion of the trackball and the compact and light size make the keyboard just perfect to use with your home theatre computer.

AMKETTE INTEGRATED WIRELESS KEYBOARD

Price: Rs 2,995

Specs:

2.4GHz wireless interface; 800dpi optical trackball; Range distance up to 10m; Scroll wheel with left and right click option; Multimedia and Internet hot-key controls

BAG IT OR JUNK IT?

A great companion for your HPC